

Diary of a Wombat

By: Sean Garcia

May 1st- Slept all day

May 2nd- While I was exploring today, a fox found me and I darted to my burrow hole. I don't mean to brag but I was going about 25 mph.

May 3rd- While I has walking around today, I found this great new grass patch. I think I'll come back tommorow.

May 5th- Well, you know that grass spot I found? I came back yesterday and found another wombat already there. I stuck my butt out for protection but that didn't really help. That grass didn't taste that well anyways.

May 6th- I woke up today and realized that I don't have anything to eat. I have a little grass but I'm getting tired of eating it all the time.

May 8- Great news, found a carrot patch! Now I'll never be hungry again.