

Lost, but then Found

Written by: Makayla Koholua Illustrated by: Makayla Koholua

Once upon a time, in a forest in south Africa, a Bitis Gabonican snake was giving birth to three snaklings. The mother's name is Mother Gabonica, along with her three children, Bits, Gabon, and Nica.

Even though the snaklings were hungry, they knew that they would have to catch their own meals and learn how to hunt from Mother Gabonica, to catch mice or birds.

Distracted by hunger, Gabon dazes out and wanders off in the OPPOSITE direction that his Mother and snaklings were going!

And before Gabon knew it, his mom and 2 sisters have slithered deep in the african forest with their long, skinny tails.

Gabon was starving and noticed an African Quail walking by. Sadly, Gabon lacked the skills to hunt and couldn't catch the quail no matter how hungry he was.

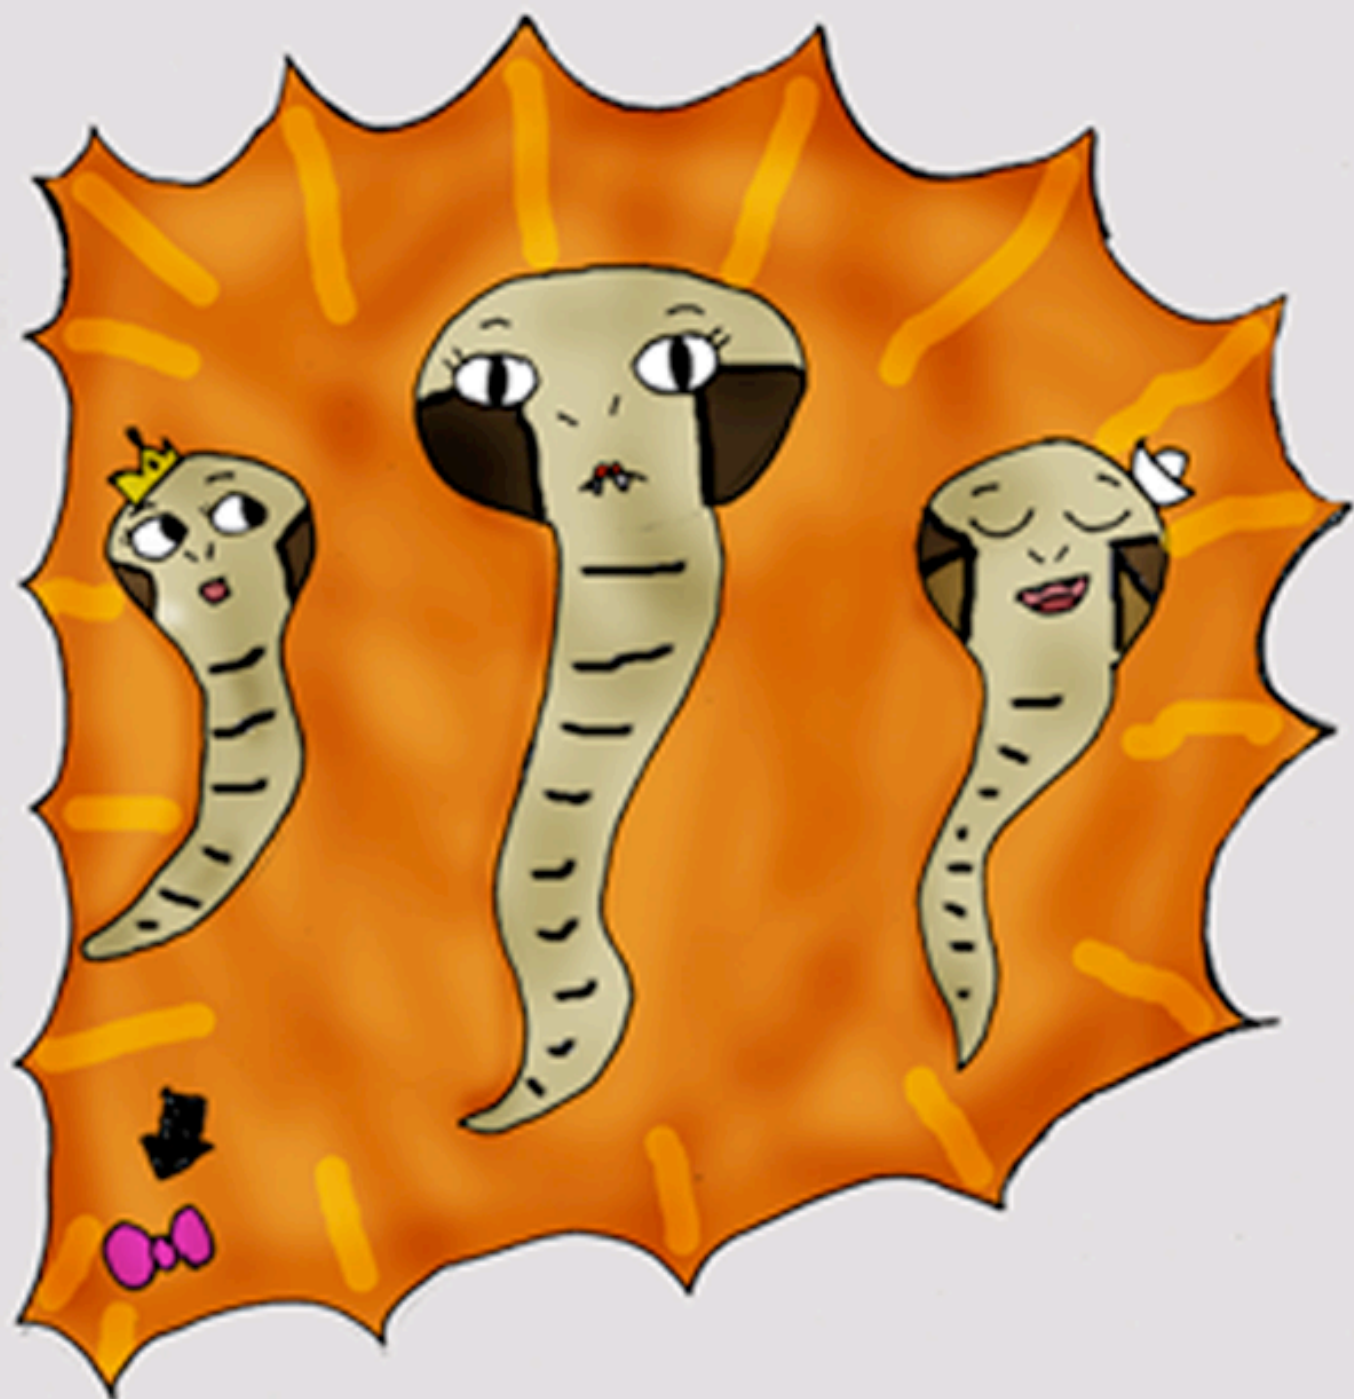

While giving Gabon a scare, Mother Gabonica, Nica, and Bits pop out of nowhere right next to Gabon!

But for Gabon, all that really mattered at that point, was that he was back home with Mother Gabonica, Bits, and Nica?

Now that Gibon is back, where is Nica!?
