

Maggie's
Lucky
Charm

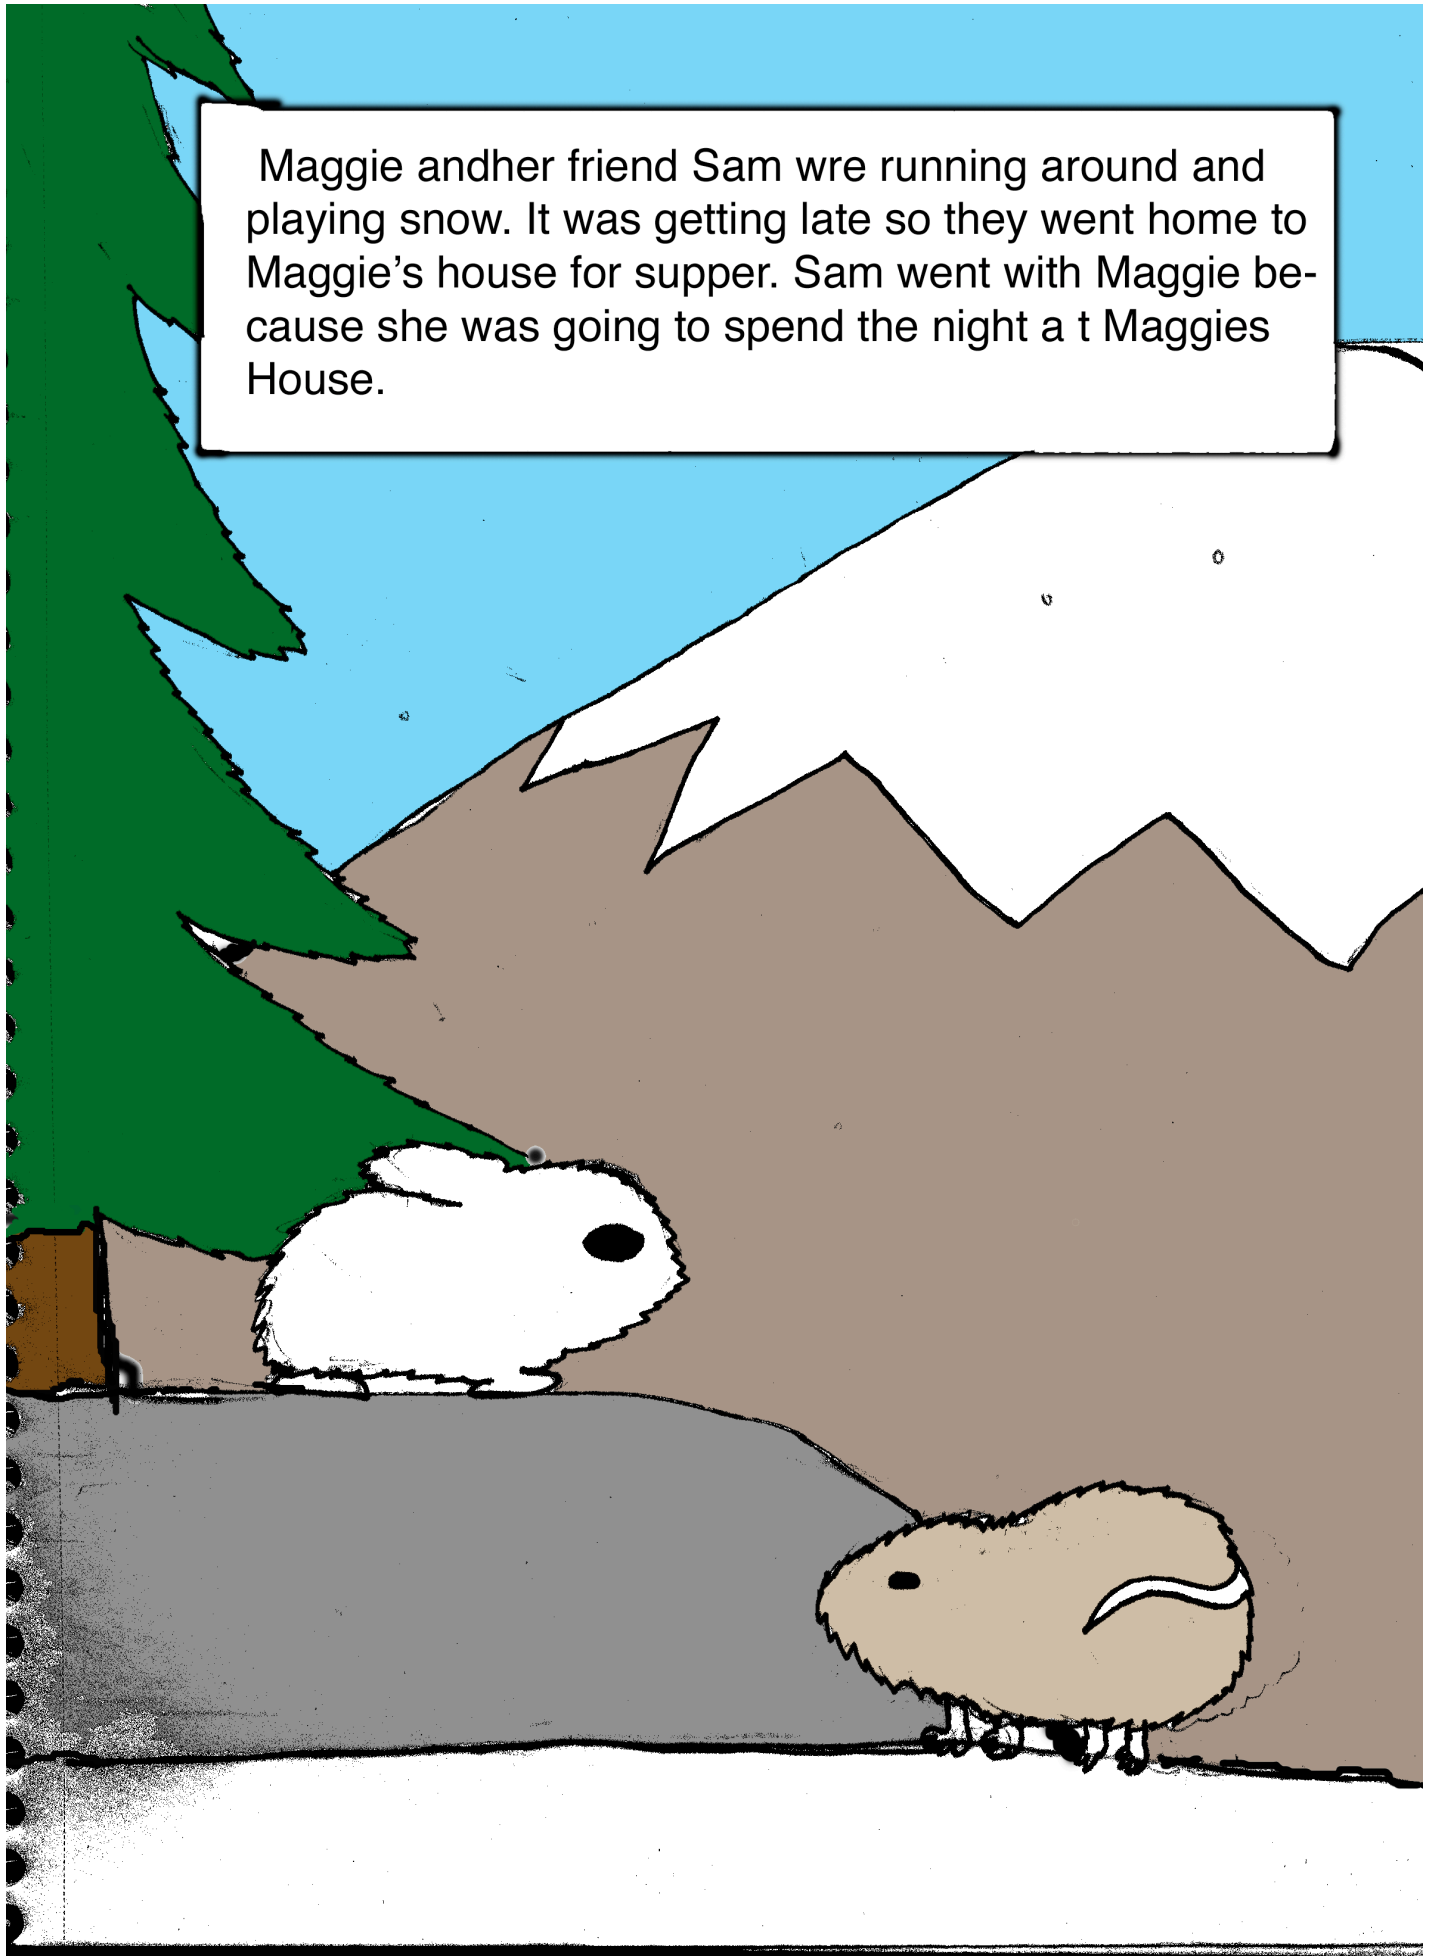

By Kristin Tancayo

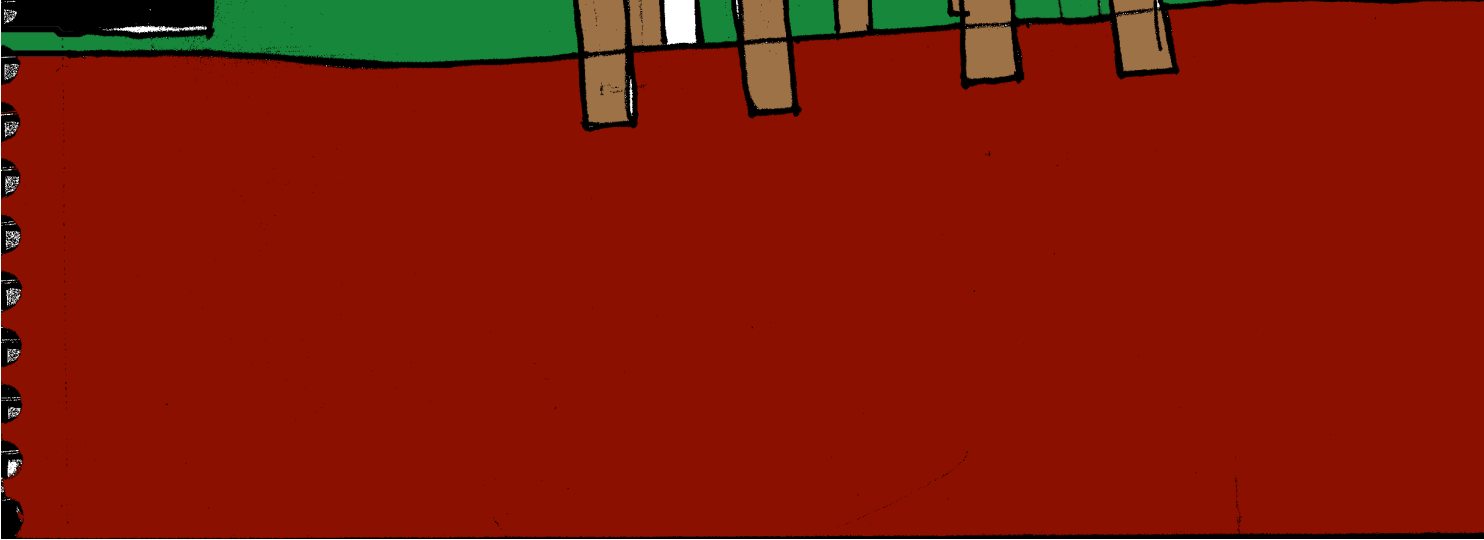

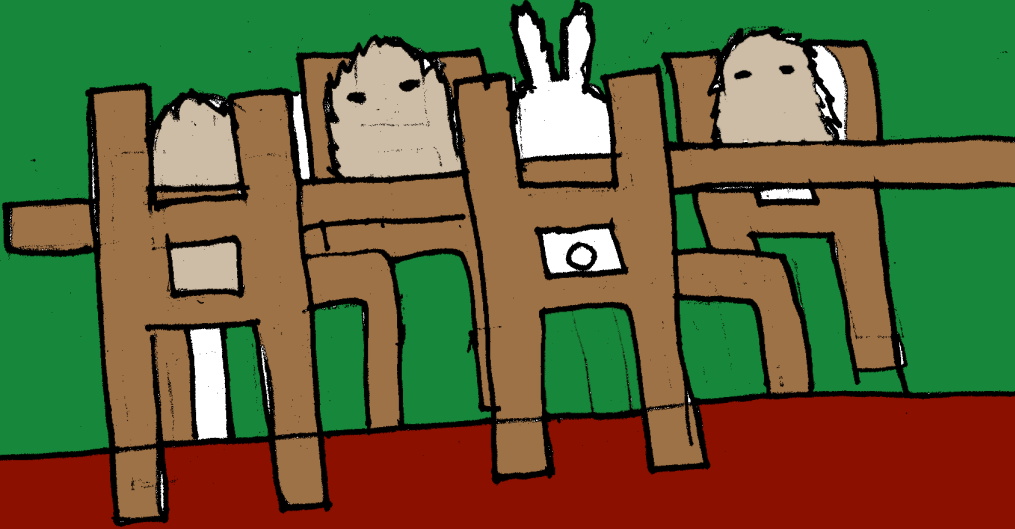

Once upon a time there was a northern collared lemming named Maggie. She and her family lived in the tundras of Alaska.

Maggie and her friend Sam were running around and playing snow. It was getting late so they went home to Maggie's house for supper. Sam went with Maggie because she was going to spend the night at Maggie's House.

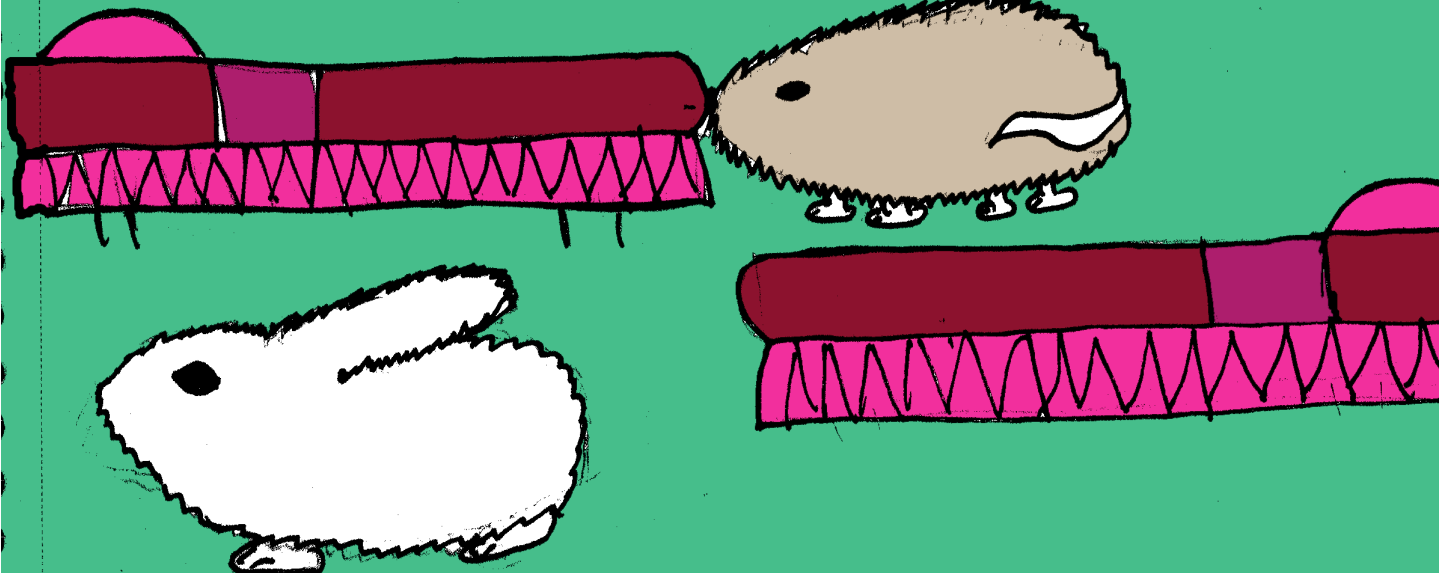

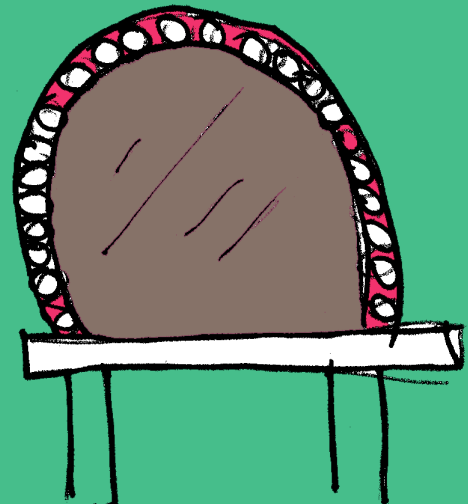

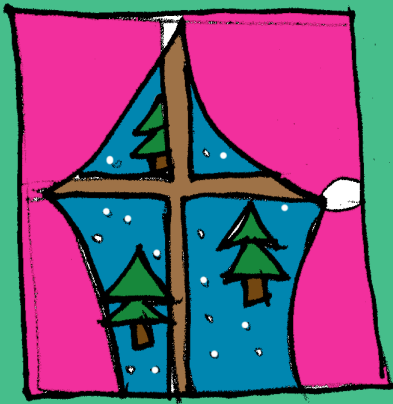

Maggie and Sam both went in to Maggie's room after eating supper. But before Maggie

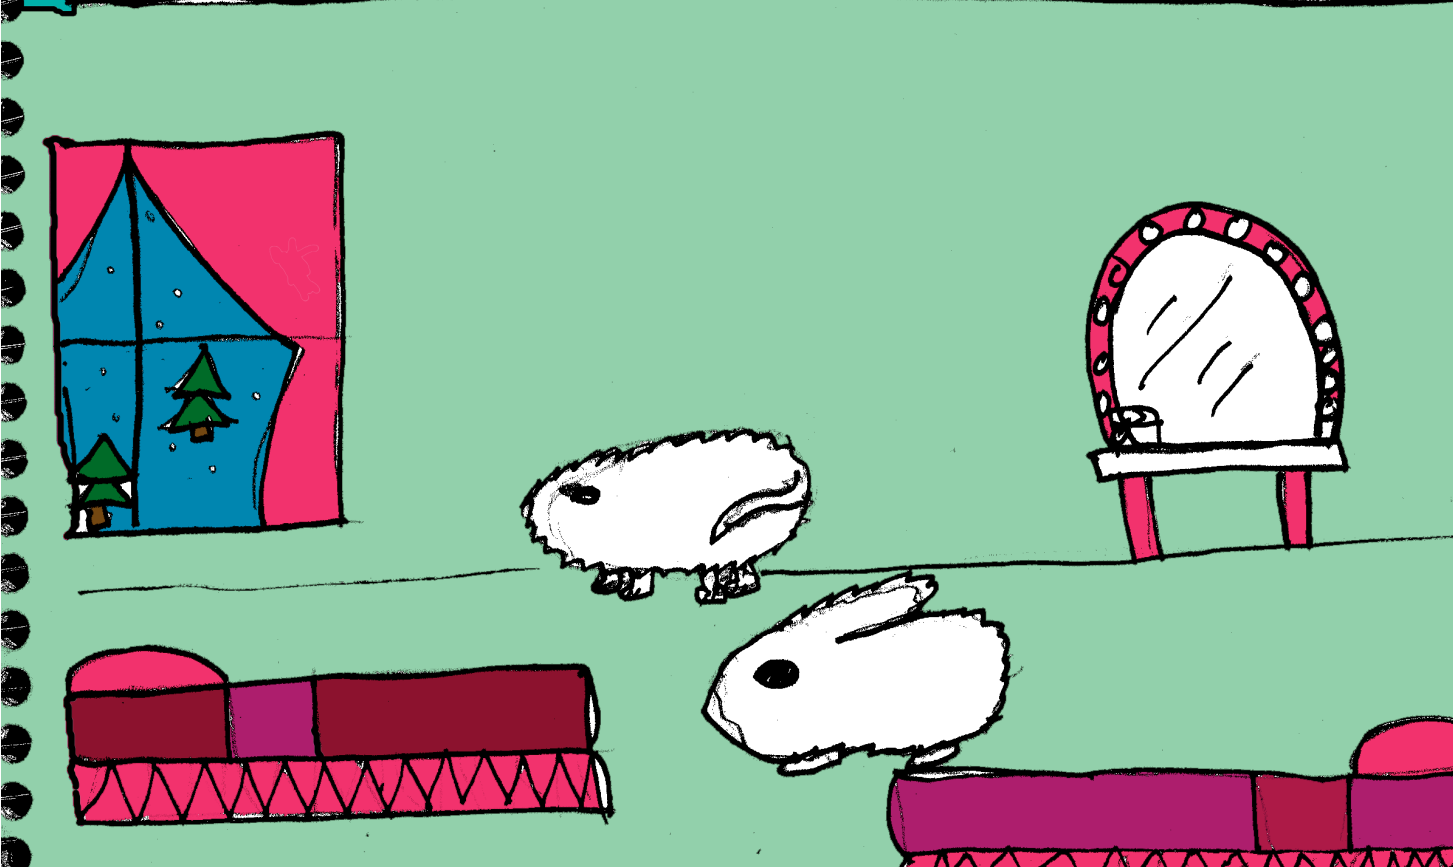

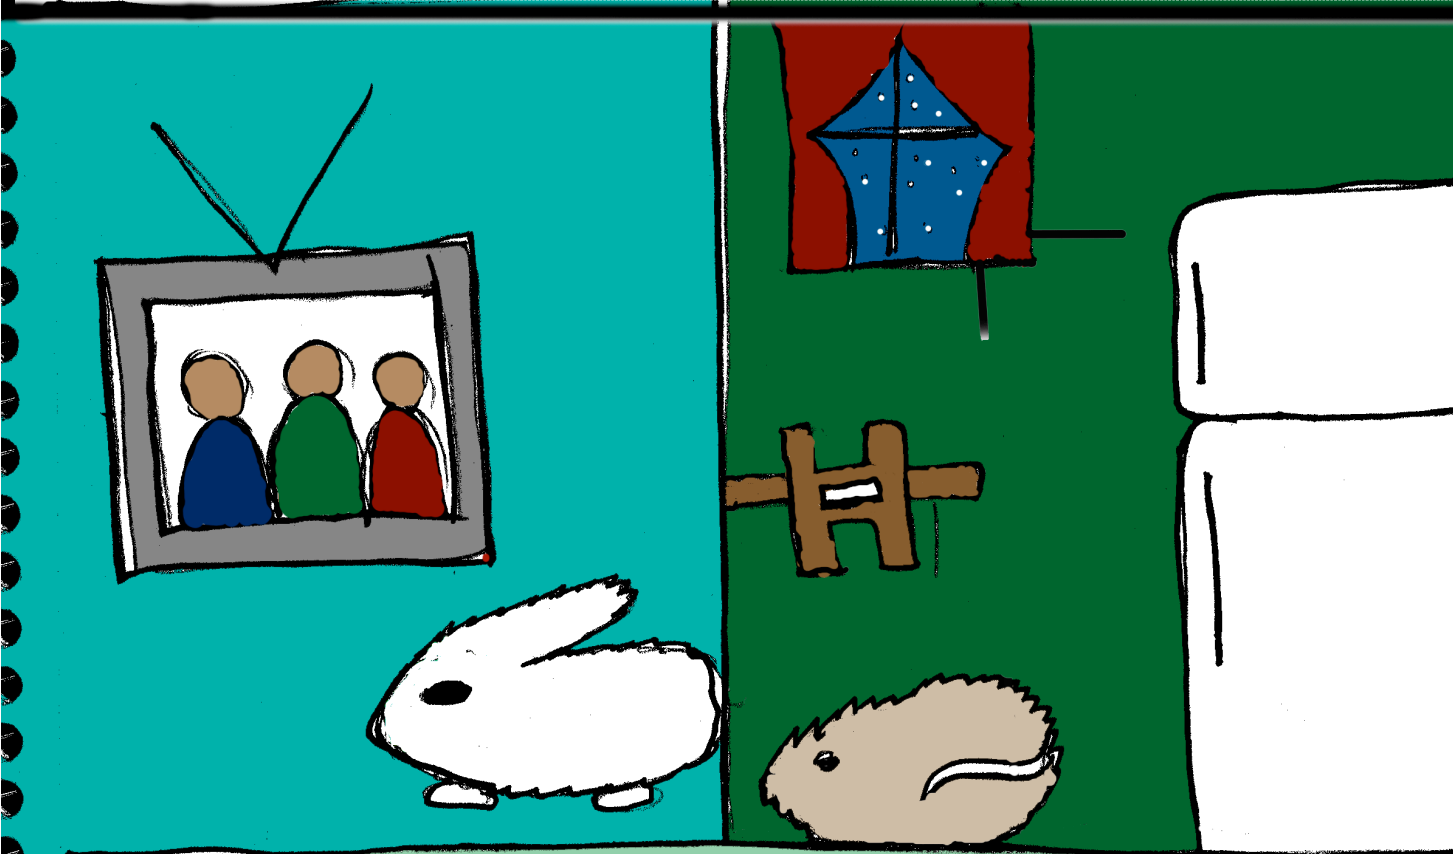

After dinner they both went to Maggie's room. But before they went to sleep Maggie went to her jewelry to rub her lucky charm for ood luck. But it wasn't there.

They looked everywhere, But nothing was found.

It was getting late so they both decided to go to sleep. Sam went to sleep but Maggie couldn't go to sleep because she couldn't stop thinking about her Lucky charm. Maggie was looking outside and then she saw a shooting star. Maggie wished for her lucky charm back on the

The next morning Maggie looked in her jewelry box and her lucky charm was inside.
