

Pupukahi the Charger

By: Blaine Furman

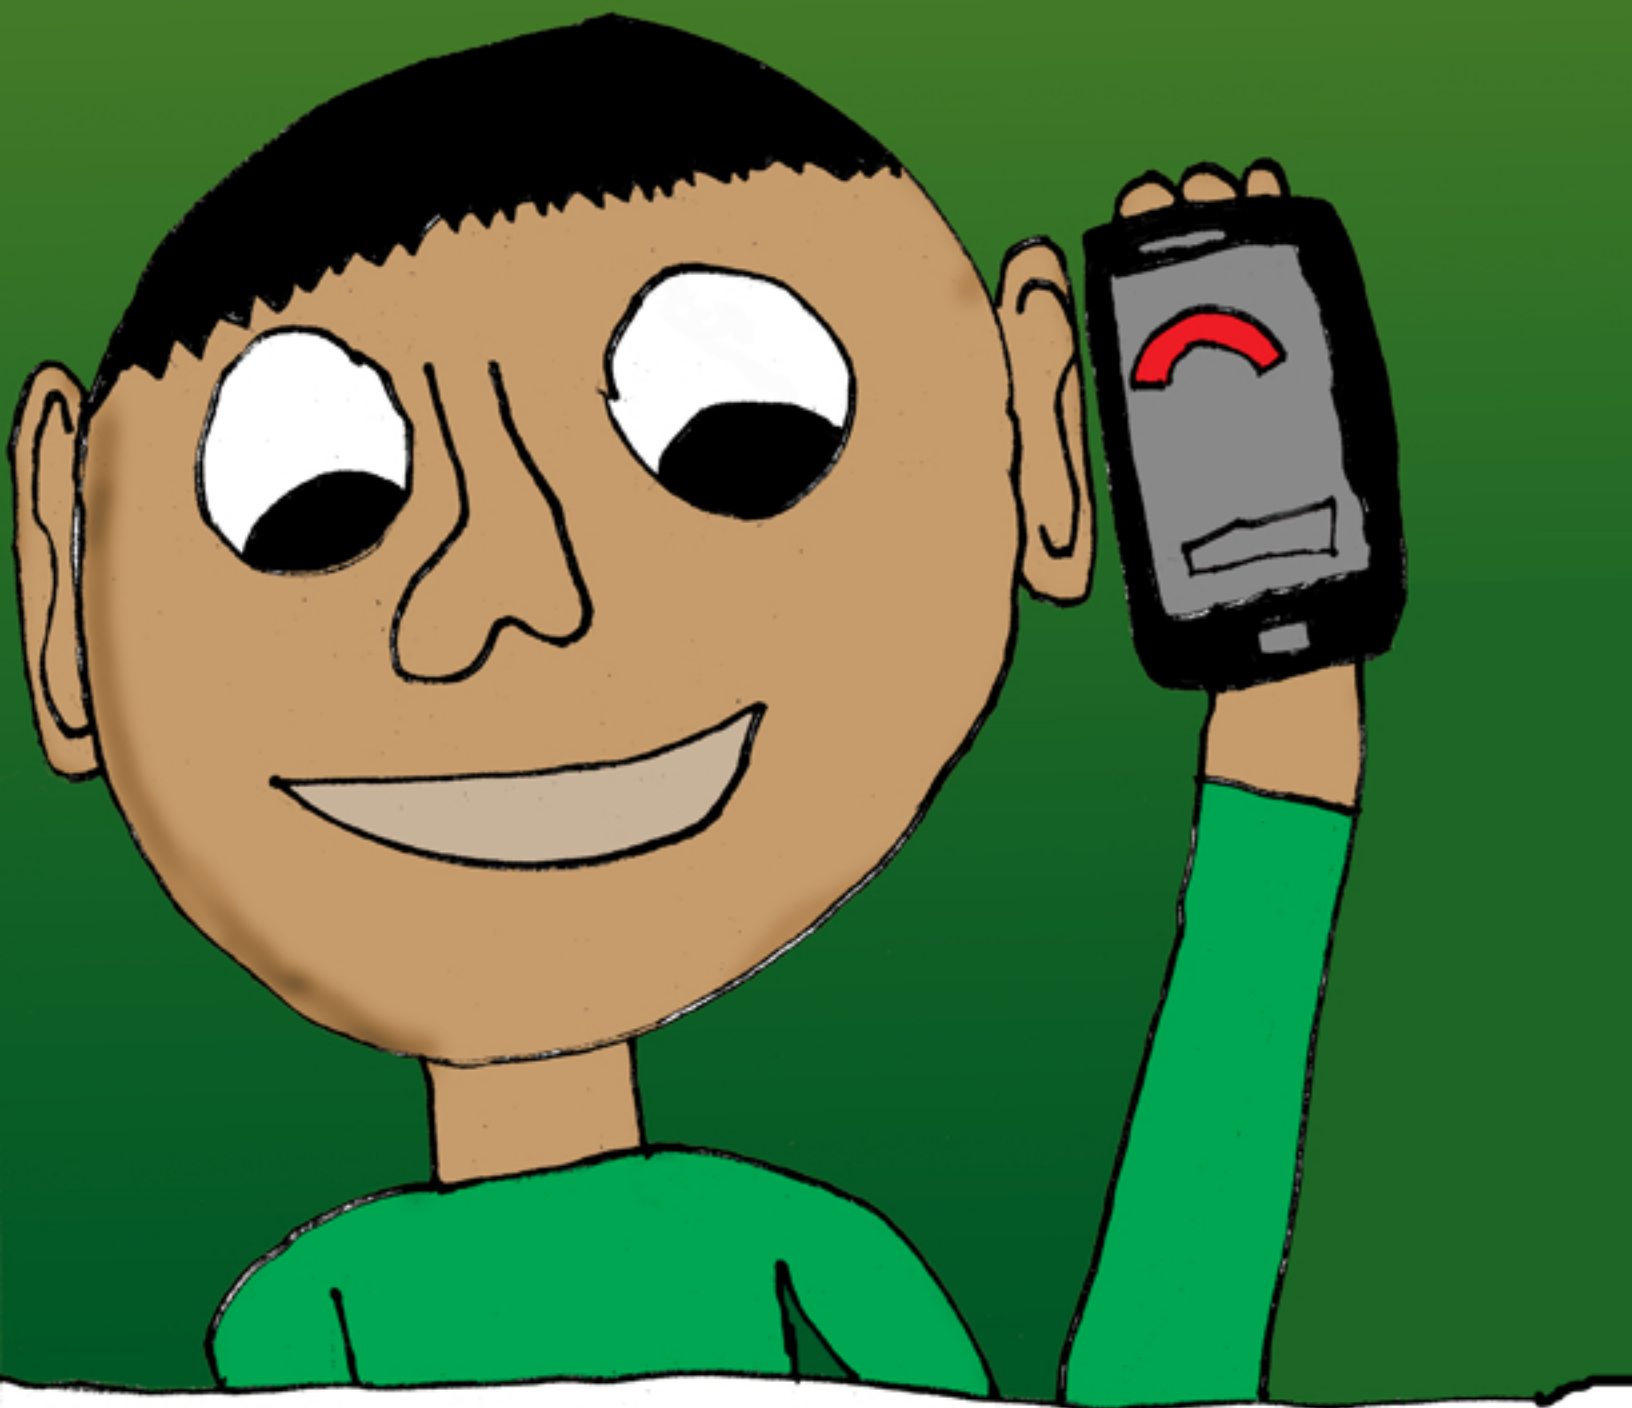

In the island of Hawaii, Pupukahi and Larry always stay mad at Bob because they are always being used and are wasting a lot of electricity. They hate to make waste that much electricity. They never did like to use too much electricity, but Bob always keeps them on.

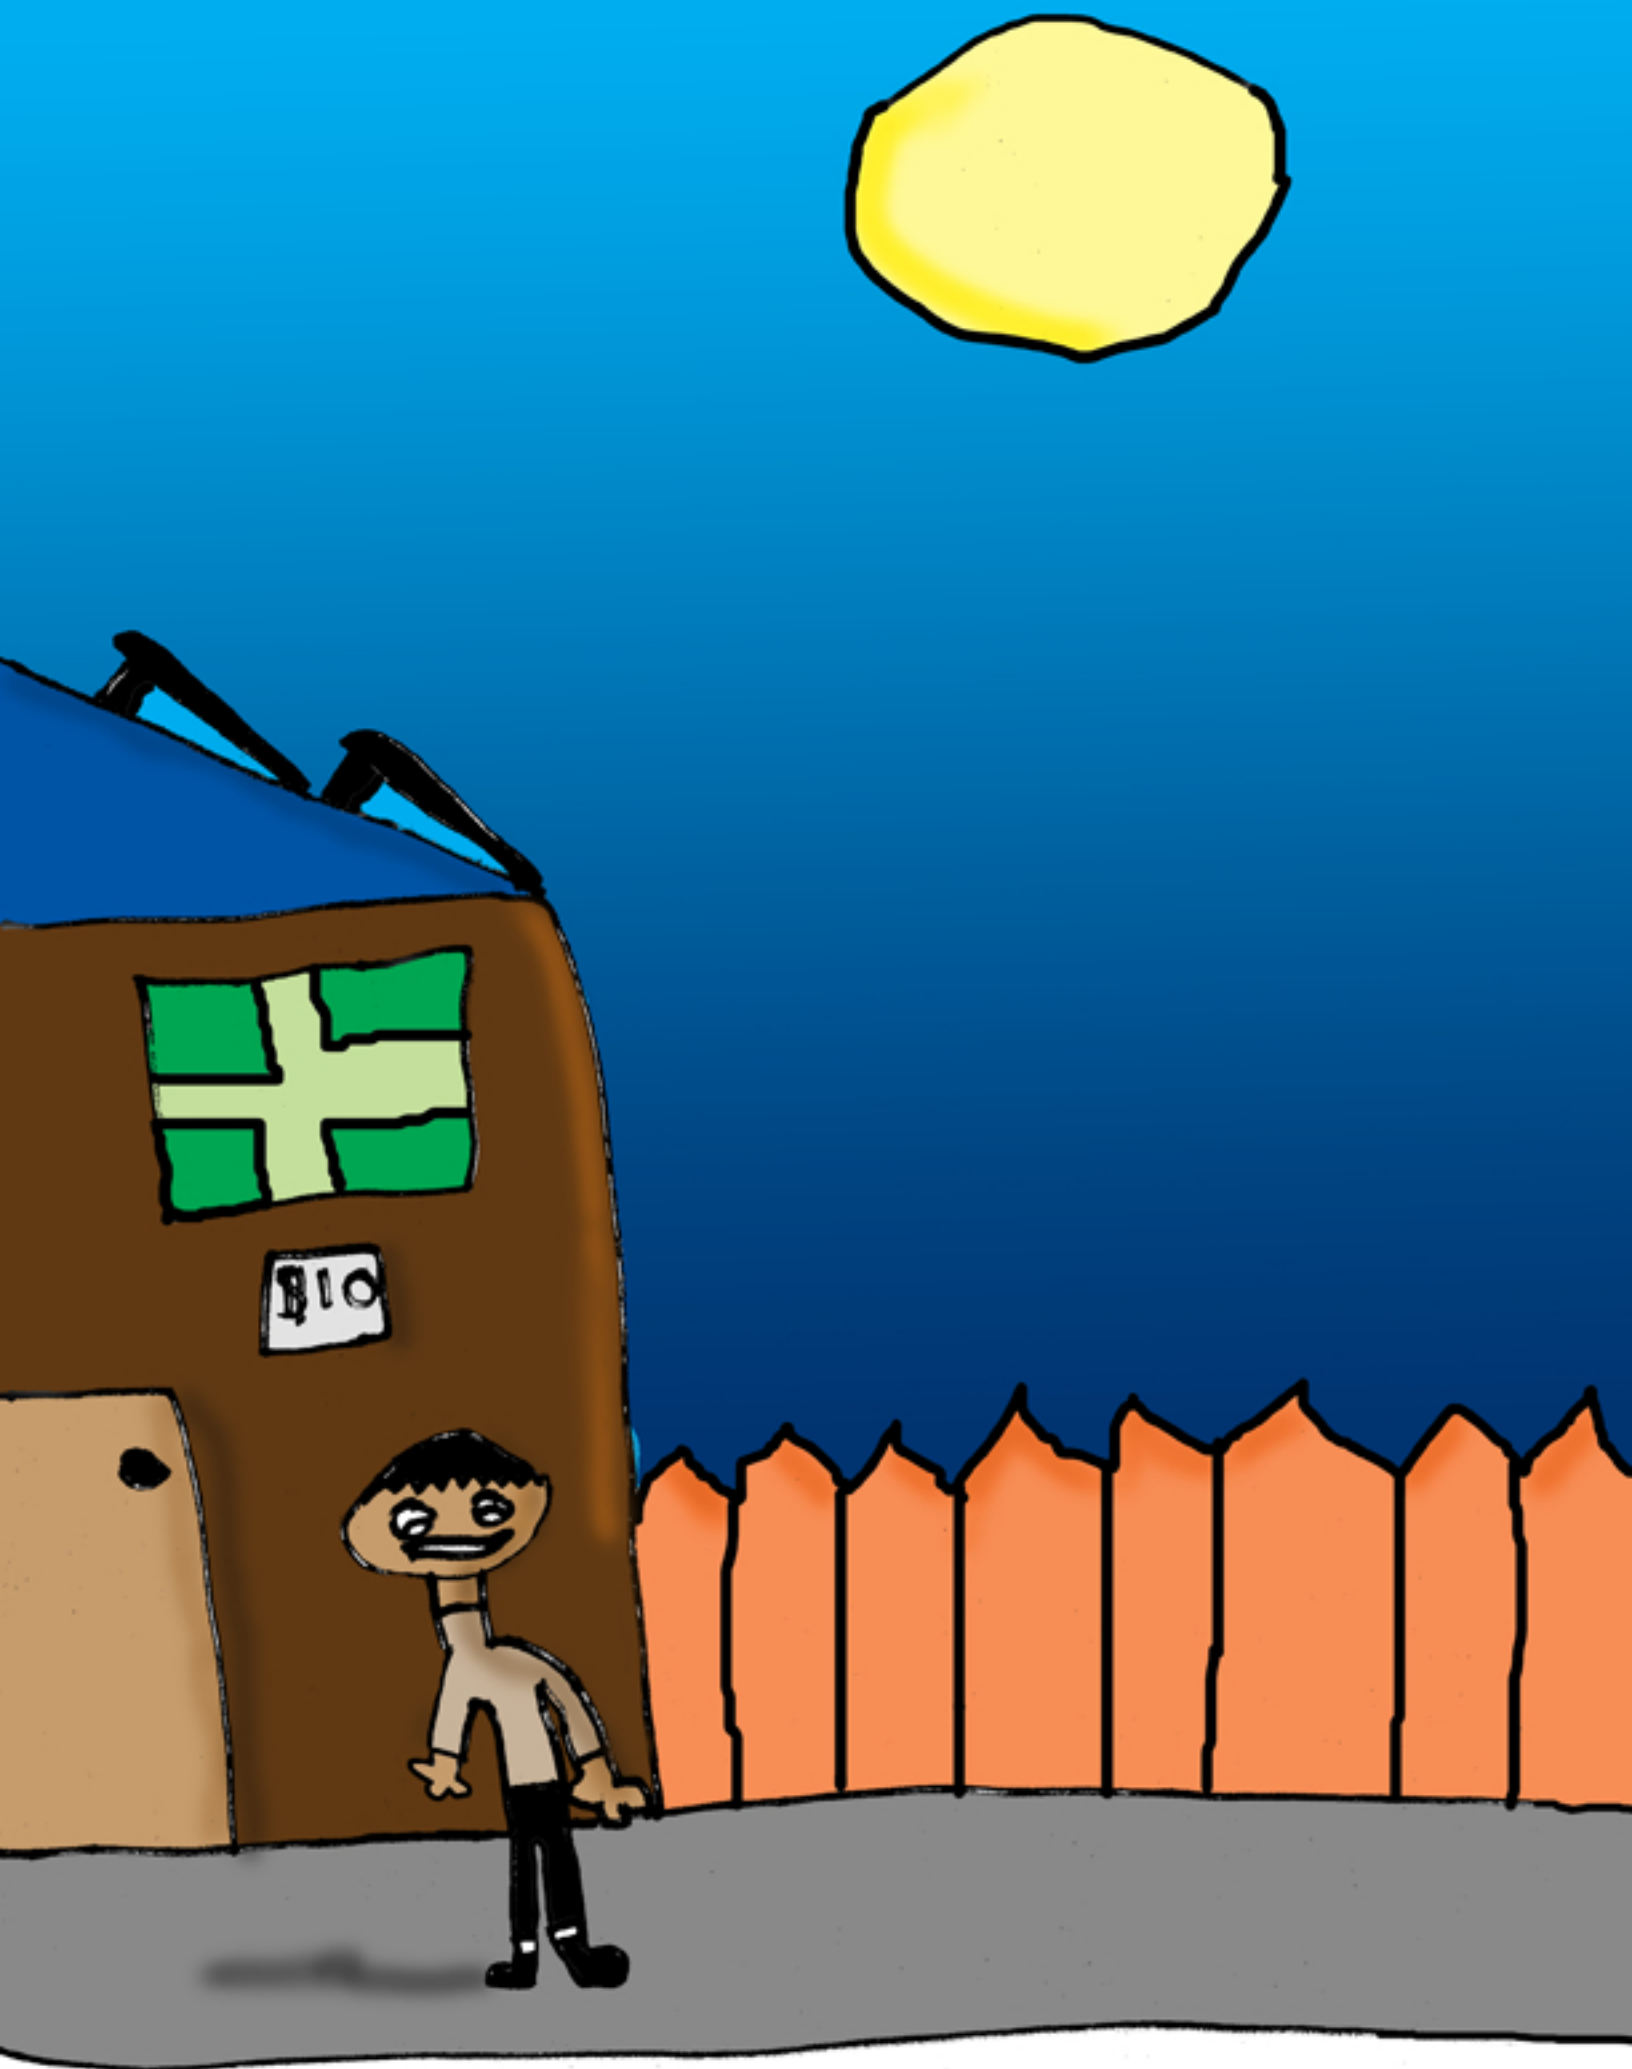

Pukukahi and Larry always gets yelled at by Bob for using too much electricity. He always gets mad because he leaves them on all the time and the price of electric always rises.

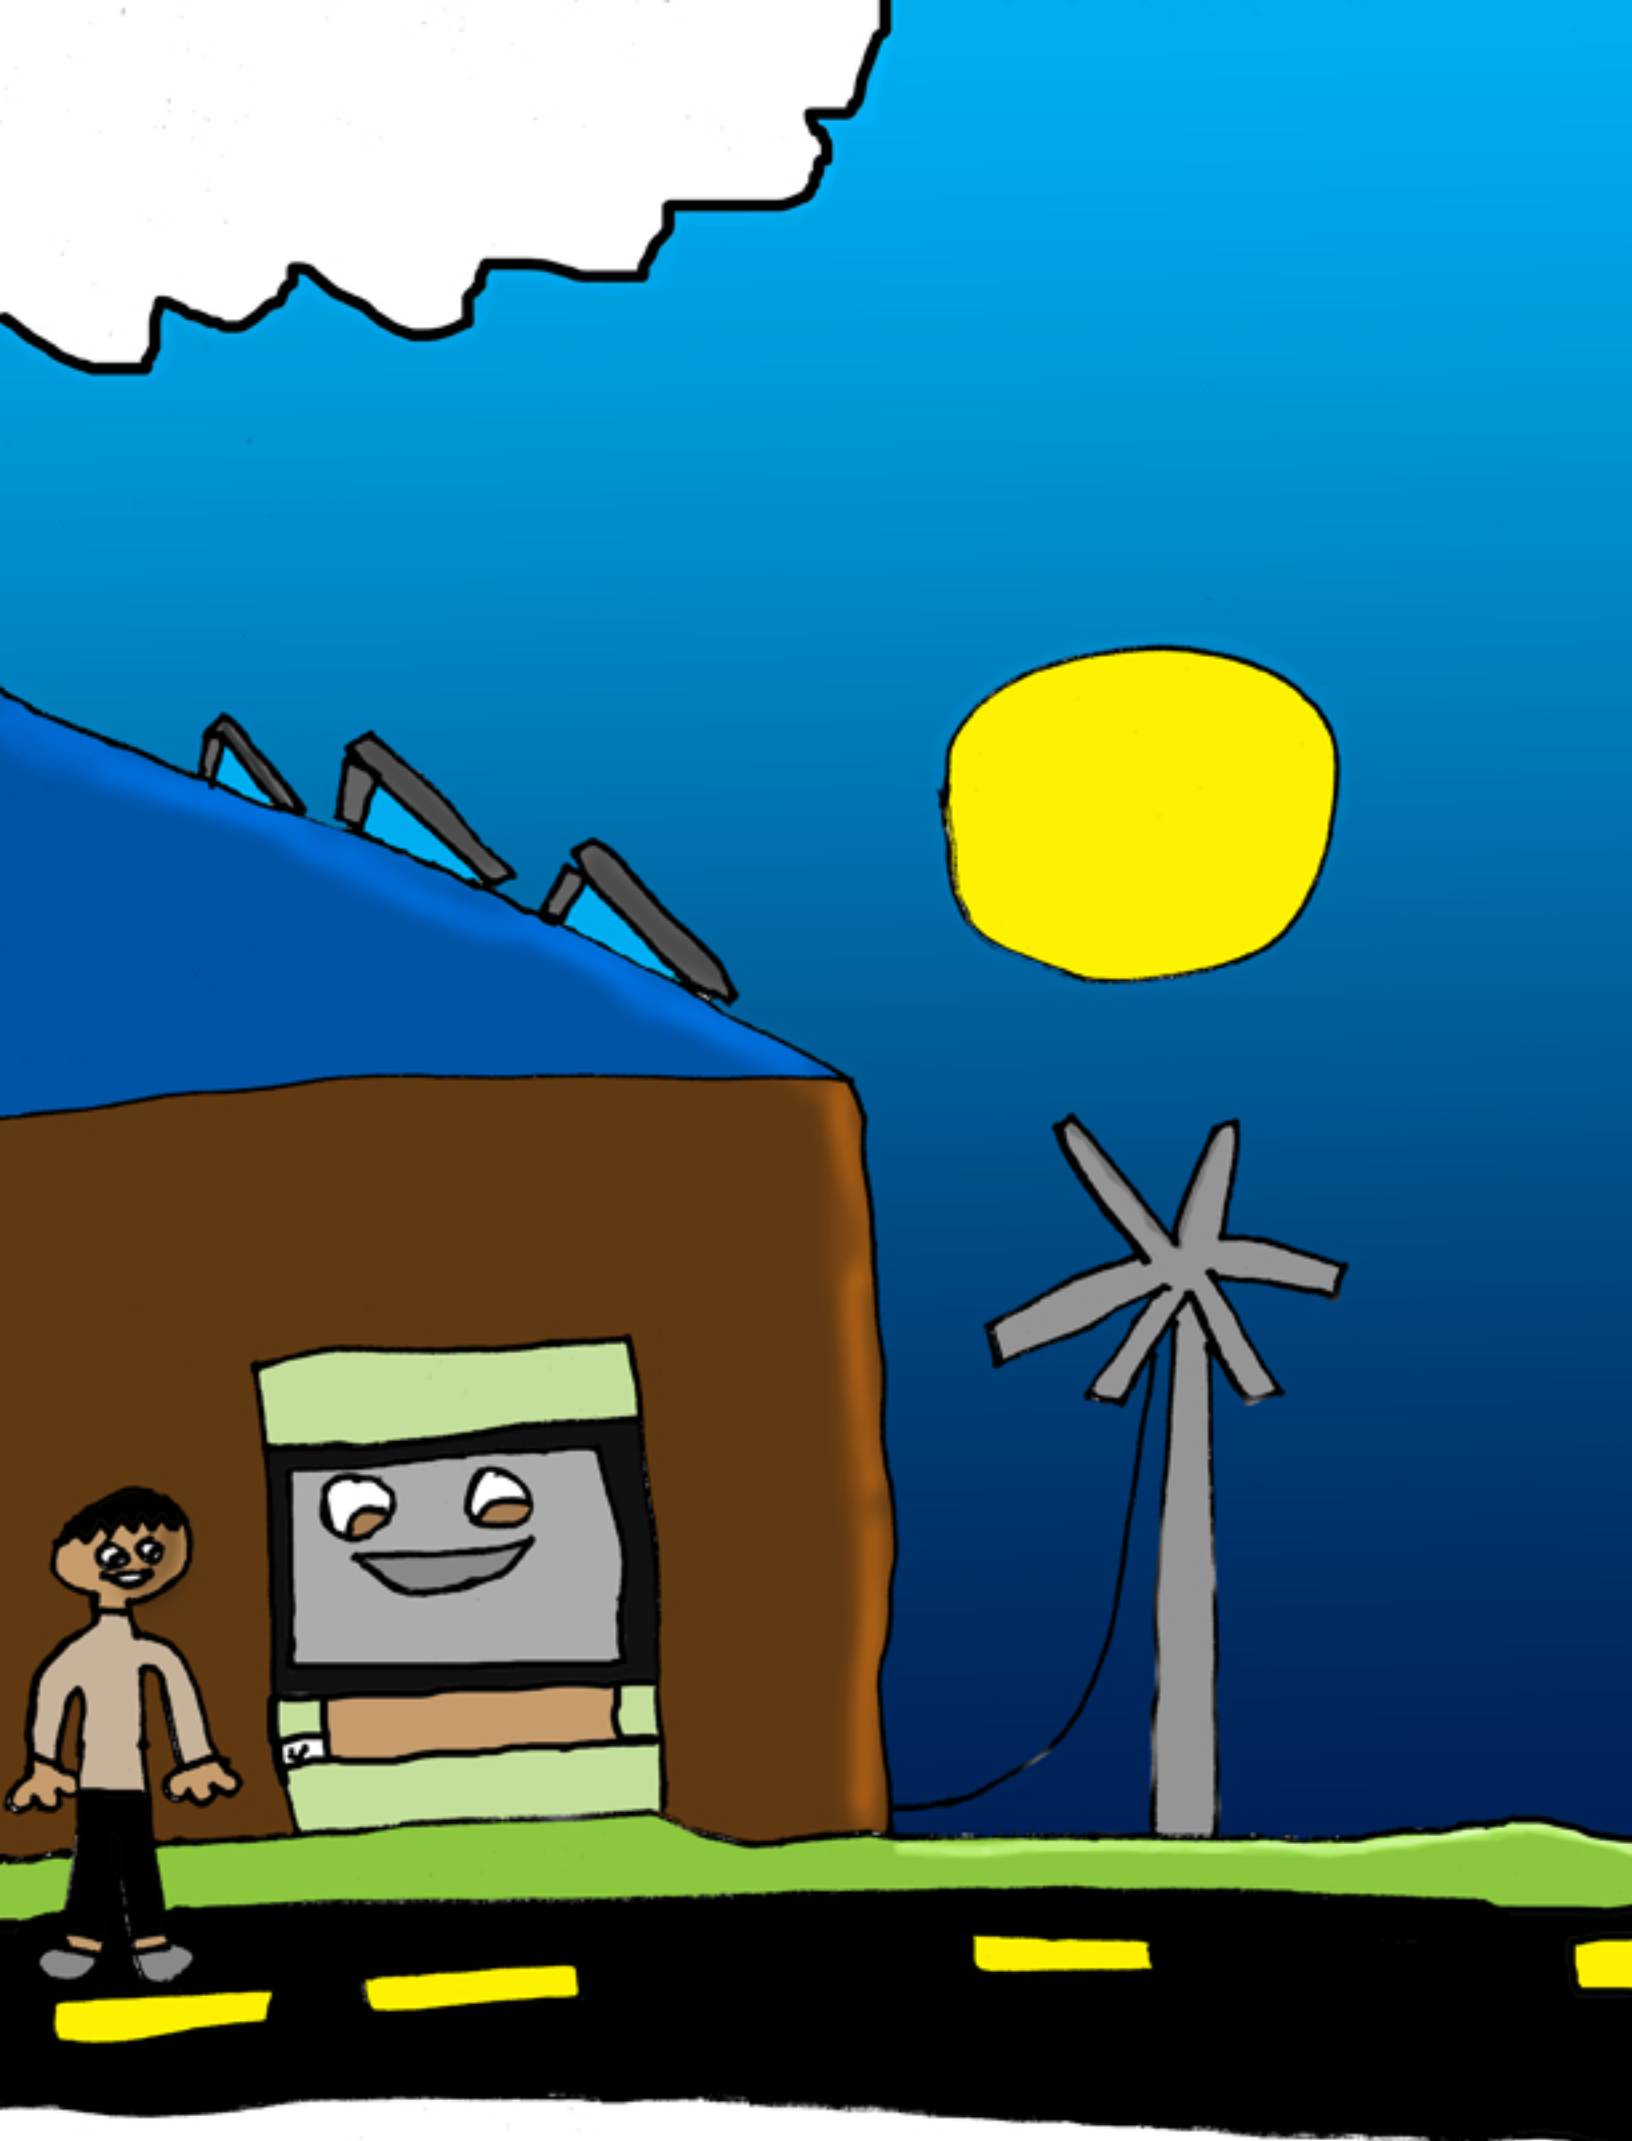

Since Bob was so mad, he decided to call Heco and ask them why his bill was so high. They told him that he could lower his bill if he only used his chargers and tv whenever he uses them. They also told him that he could get solar panels to lessen the use of electricity.

Bob finally got the help he need from Heco. Bob, the electrician, helped him put up solar panels and told him some tips about saving.

From the tips and the solar panels, he got his bill down to only a hook up charge that is $10 a month.

Everyone was happy in the end and they never wasted electricity again!

The End!
