

Global Nation

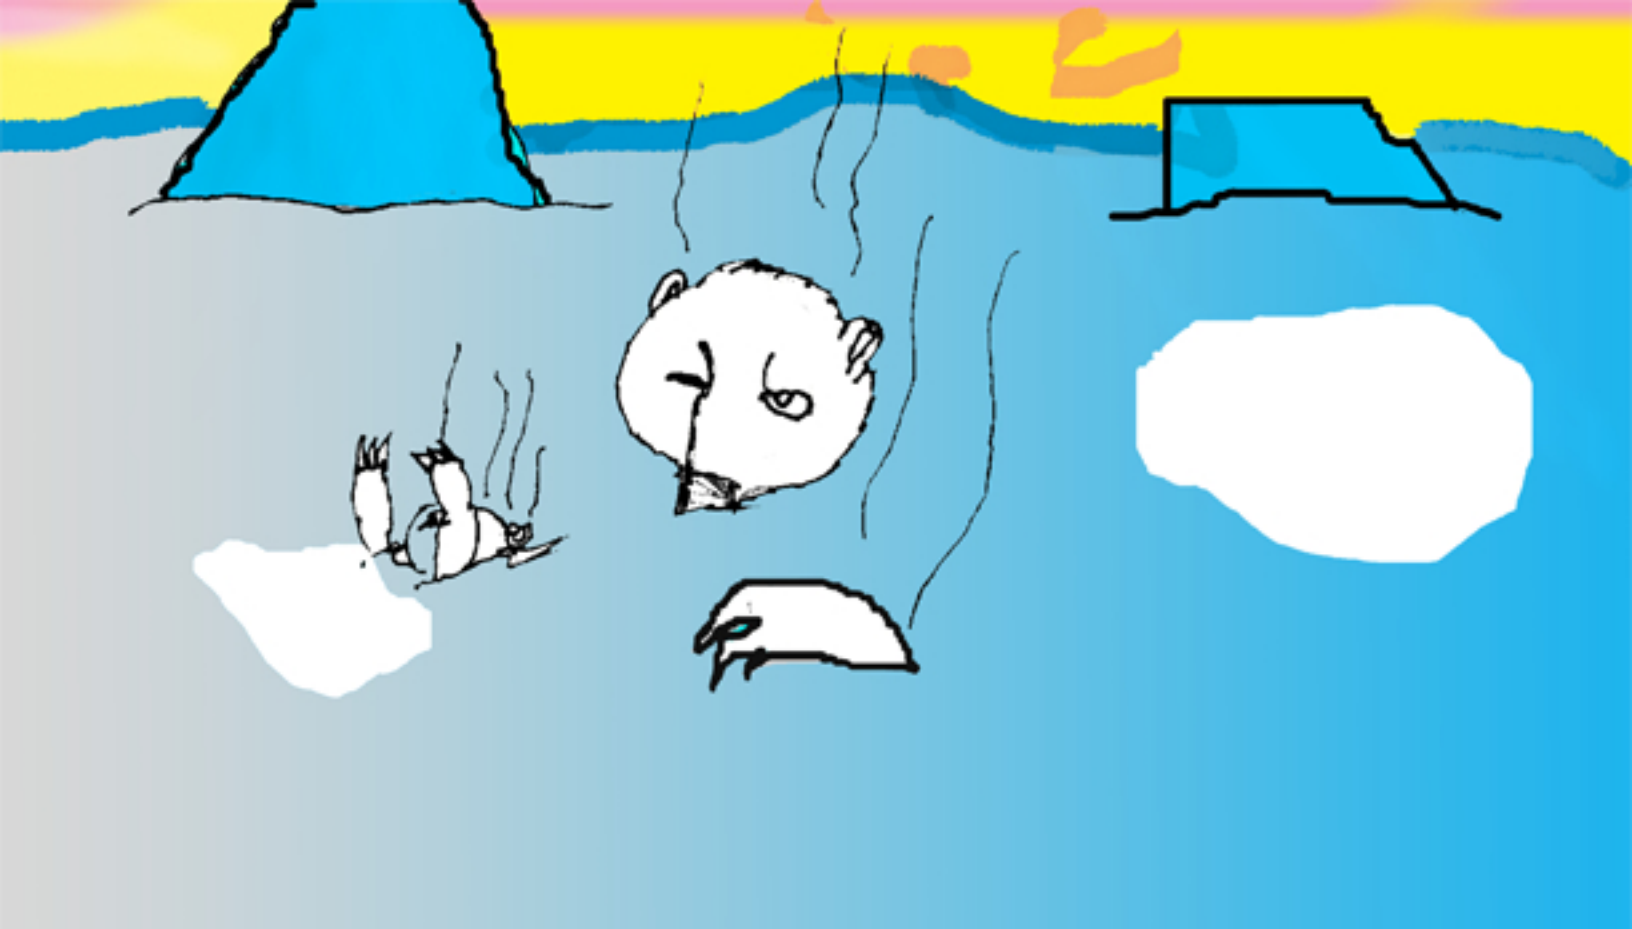

Rex the polar bear and Pomajhon the penguin were best friends ever since they met.

A professor named professor Jock looked at his information and found out global warming has started.

The pollution got worse. The people didnt know what they were doing.

Rexe's family were dying because when they went swimming they had no place to rest when they went swimming. The ice was melting.

The people heard about the Bears and decided to help clean up the trash and stop people from smoking.

Pomajhon and Rex saw each other and they lived happily ever after.