

If you haven't already heard, lava is heading to Pahoia and that's where I live. This lava flow started June 27, 2014. The lava flow is currently going parallel with Kahoe Homesteads and towards Pahoia town.

The lava is traveling at about 250 yards a day. It is now 0.1 miles away from Kahoe homesteads where my family has a farm. Thankfully we evacuated the farm and are working on my house because it is the next in line for the flow. After our house we will work on my papa's house in Pahoia town, then if necessary my aunty's house in Ainaloa.

The current projection of the flow is through Pahoia and will cut off the main highway. Our family will be leaving Pahoia before the lava crosses the road so we do not have to worry about using the new alternate routes being built. If you want more Lava updates daily visit <http://hvo.wr.usgs.gov>.

Here are some photos of our 40 ft container, that used to be full of stuff. It is now empty!!! We will be moving the container and using it for storage.

We have been packing the house and already taking our things to Hilo. Our family has been working hard and are doing well. We hope we can return.
